

Jan 14

Dear UA Community

A few weeks ago, I had the opportunity to meet with the President-elect, Joe Biden, and his wife, Jill, and their children. I was able to talk to them about the University of Alaska and the challenges we face. They were very supportive and encouraging. They also mentioned that they would be coming to Alaska in the near future. This is a great opportunity for us to meet with them and discuss our needs and concerns. I am sure that they will be very helpful in our efforts to improve the University and the state of Alaska.

We are concerned about the well-being of our students and faculty and staff. We are also concerned about the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on our community. We are working to ensure that our students and faculty and staff are safe and healthy. We are also working to ensure that our community is safe and healthy. We are committed to providing the best possible education and support for our students and faculty and staff.

The University of Alaska is committed to providing the best possible education and support for our students and faculty and staff. We are committed to providing the best possible education and support for our students and faculty and staff. We are committed to providing the best possible education and support for our students and faculty and staff.

I am sure that the University of Alaska will continue to provide the best possible education and support for our students and faculty and staff. We are committed to providing the best possible education and support for our students and faculty and staff. We are committed to providing the best possible education and support for our students and faculty and staff.